

Dr. Kenneth L. Hacker

VITA

ADDRESS:

Dr. Kenneth L. Hacker, Ph.D.
Professor and Department Head
Department of Communication Studies
Communication Sciences Building
New Mexico State University
Las Cruces, NM 88003

E-mail: khacker@nmsu.edu

OFFICE PHONE: (575) 646-4937. OFFICE PHONE MESSAGE (575) 646-2801.

EDUCATION:

Ph.D., Speech Communication, University of Oregon, 1986.

M.A., Communication Studies, California State University, Sacramento, California, 1983.

B.A., Political Science, Sonoma State University, Rohnert Park, California. Psychology minor.
Graduated With Honors.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE:

Professor, Department of Communication Studies, New Mexico State University (NMSU), Political Communication, Communication Technologies, Persuasion, Communication Theories, Ethnicity and Prejudice, 2003-present.

Since being at NMSU, I created nearly all of my department's courses in political communication, communication technologies, and ethnicity and prejudice. I also began the graduate seminar in persuasion. My most recent course designs, started in summer, 2008, are a course called Strategic Communication and Public Diplomacy and another called Intercultural Communication and National Security. I also started a minor in NMSU Communication Studies called Communication and National Security. This led to four new courses at two levels (undergraduate and graduate). I help to coordinate those courses with the department head of the Department of Communication Studies. The minor is both an undergraduate minor and a graduate minor. Full Professor Rank earned 2003. Appointed as Department Head in 2013. July 1, 2013-present.

Associate Professor, Department of Communication Studies, New Mexico State University. Political Communication, Organizational Communication, Communication Theories, Persuasion, Communication Technologies; Communication, Ethnicity and Prejudice. Promoted and Tenured 1996.

Assistant Professor, Department of Communication, Studies, NMSU. 1991-1996.

Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Communication Studies, New Mexico State University, 1990-1991. Political Communication, Organizational Communication, Interviewing, Computer-Mediated Communication, Persuasion.

Assistant Professor, Speech and Communication, Michigan Technological University, 1986-1990. Mass Communication, Speech, Organizational Communication, Communication Theory, Communication Research Methods.

Graduate Teaching Fellow, Department of Speech, University of Oregon, 1983-1986. Speech, Small Group Communication, Public Speaking, Small Group Theory.

Graduate Teaching Assistant, Department of Communication Studies, California State University, Sacramento, California.

OTHER PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE:

Department Head, Department of Communication Studies, New Mexico State University, July 1, 2013 – present. As department head, I helped to internationalize the graduate student population, increase faculty publishing and grant proposal writing, host public speeches based on faculty research, increase department involvement with minority and military programs at NMSU, and change the name of our building from “Speech.” To “Communication Sciences.” I also created a faculty grant proposal writing incentive program and a plan for future renovation of our communication computer classroom. Additionally, I procured $55,000 worth of classroom renovation in the past year when budgets were being cut all over campus. Soon after become department head, I converted an empty faculty office into a communication research lab with computers that house content analysis software such as Diction, NVivo, and Leximancer.

Coordinator, Communication and National Security Minor, Department of Communication Studies, New Mexico State University, 2012-present. This minor allows students to connect communication theory, theories and concerns of intelligence, strategic communication, and national security; and knowledge about what various government agencies involved with national security do with specific communication processes and strategies.

Governing Council Member, J. Paul Taylor Academy, the first charter elementary school in Las Cruces-2012. Also worked with the school foundation and was part of the original group of community members who started the school.

New Mexico State Guard (“State Defense Force,” New Mexico State Department of Military Affairs, auxiliary to NM Army National Guard), volunteer service. Major, G-5 (public affairs) and G-2 (intelligence) officer on NMSG general/command staff. Joined 2004. Honorable Discharge, April 2012.

Telecommunications system consultant for organizations making changes in new communication technologies, Sacramento, California, 1981-1983. Marketing representative, telecommunications, Sacramento, California, 1978-1981.

PUBLICATIONS:

van Dijk, J., & Hacker, K. ((2018). Internet and Democracy in a Network Society. New York: Routledge Press.

Hacker, K. (2017). The realities of digital democracy. Queries, 2017.

Flora, J., Boje, D., Rosile, G.A., & Hacker, K. (2016). A theoretical and applied review of embodied restorying for post-deployment family reintegration. Journal of Veteran Studies, Issue 1, 129-162.

Hacker, K. (2016). Persuasive communication. In G. Armfield & E. Morgan (Eds.) Human Communication in Action. Dubuque, IA: KendallHunt, pp. 105-123.

Hacker, K., and Mendez, V. (2016). International broadcasting, smart diplomacy and a model of strategic influence and global engagement. Media and Communication, 4, 69-91.

Hacker, K., Acquah-Baidoo, B., and Epperson, A. (2016). Reconciling the Needs for National Security and Citizen Privacy in Age of Surveillance. Cropf, R. (Ed.) Ethical Issues and Citizen Rights in the Era of Digital Government Surveillance. IGI Global.

van Dijk, J, and Hacker, K. (in press). Reprint of journal article. Education and Technology: Critical Concepts in Education, edited by Chris Davies and Rebecca Eynon. To be published by Routledge in October 2015. J. Dijk, and K. Hacker, 'The Digital Divide as a Complex and Dynamic Phenomenon', The Information Society, 19, 2003, pp.315-326.

Hacker, K. (2014). The United States Information Agency. Essay for the Encyclopedia of Intelligence, Greg Moore, Editor, Taylor and Francis.

Hacker, K., and Morgan, E. (2013). Empowering and disempowering aspects of new media networking and digital democracy, International Journal of Technology Diffusion, 4, 84-94.

Hacker, K. (2013). Book Review of a Private Sphere: Democracy in a Digital Age, by Zizi A. Papacharissi, Journal of Communication. 63, E1-E5.

Hacker, K. (2012). Social media and new military public affairs policies. Citizen 2.0: Public and Governmental Interaction through Web 2.0 Technologies. A book edited by Dr. Kathryn Kloby, Monmouth University, NJ and Dr. Maria J. D'Agostino, John Jay College, NY. IGI Global, pp. 174-195.

- Hacker, K., and Morgan, E. (2011). Issues of digital disempowerment and new media networking (NMN) in relation to e-government. In Cropf, R., & Krummenmacher, W. (Eds.). Information Communication Technologies and the Virtual Public Sphere. Hershey, PA: IGA Global, pp. 92-115.
- Hacker, K., Mason, S., and Morgan, E. (2009). Digital disempowerment in a network society. In N. Kock (Ed.). E-Collaboration: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications. Hershey: New York: Information Science Reference.
- Hacker, K, Mason, S. and Morgan, E. (2009). Network society and digital disempowerment. International Journal of Electronic Government Research, 5, 57-71.
- Hacker, K, Mason, S. and Morgan, E. (2007). Digital disempowerment. In Emma Rooksby (Ed.) Information Technology and Social Justice. Idea Group, Inc. pp.112-147.
- Hacker, K. (2007). Candidate images. Encyclopedia of Political Communication. Sage Publications.
- Hacker, K. (2007). Political images. International Encyclopedia of Communication. Blackwell.
- Morgan, E., and Hacker, K. (2007). Boundaries in genetic discourse: Racial and ethnic self-identification, Communication Research Reports, 24, 1-7.
- Hacker, K., Coombs, M., Weaver, C., & McCulloh, G. (2006). Possible uses of blogs and computer-mediated communication (CMC) for depolarizing political discourse. Journal of Intelligence Community Research and Development (classified).
- Hacker, K. (2004). (Ed.) Presidential Candidate Images. Lanham, MD: Rowman and Littlefield.
- Hacker, K. (2004). A dual processing perspective of candidate image formation. In Hacker, K. (Ed.) Presidential Candidate Images. Lanham, MD: Rowman and Littlefield, pp. 105-132.
- Hacker, K. (2004). (Ed.) Using cognitive measurement for analysis of candidate images. In Hacker, K. (Ed.) Presidential Candidate Images. Lanham, MD: Rowman and Littlefield, pp. 211-230.
- Hacker, K. (2004). The potential of computer-mediated communication (CMC) for political structuration. Javnost/The Public, 11, 5-26.
- Hacker, K. (2004). Book review of the Internet Galaxy by Manuel Castells. Journal of Communication.
- Van Dijk, J. and Hacker, K. (2003). The Digital Divide as a complex and dynamic phenomenon. The Information Society, 19, 315-326.
- Mason, S. and Hacker, K. (2003). Applying communication theory to Digital Divide research. IT and Society, 1, 40-55.

Hacker, K., Giles, M., and Guerrero, A. (2003). The political image management techniques of President Bill Clinton. In Denton, R. (Ed.), The Clinton Presidency, 2. Westport, CT: Praeger, pp. 1-37.

Hacker, K. and Mason, S. (2003). Ethics gaps in studies of the Digital Divide. Ethics and Information Technology, 5, 99-115.

Hacker, K., and Steiner, R. (2002). The digital divide for Hispanic Americans. Howard Journal of Communications, 13, 267-283.

Hacker, K. (2002). Network democracy and the Fourth World. European Journal of Communication Research, 27, 235-260.

Hacker, K., and Steiner, R. (2001). Hurdles of access and benefits of usage for Internet communication, Communication Research Reports, 18, 399-407.

Hacker, K. and van Dijk, J. (2001) (Eds.) Digital Democracy: Issues of Theory and Practice. London: Sage.

Hacker, K., (2001). The Clinton White House computer-mediated communication (CMC) system and political interactivity. In Hacker, K. and van Dijk, J. (Eds.) Digital Democracy: Issues of Theory and Practice, pp. 105-129. London: Sage Publications.

Hacker, K., and van Dijk, J. (2001). What is digital democracy? In Hacker, K. and van Dijk, J. (Eds.) Digital Democracy: Issues of Theory and Practice, pp. 1-9. London: Sage Publications.

van Dijk, J., and Hacker, K. (2001). Summary. In Hacker, K. and van Dijk, J. (Eds.) Digital Democracy: Issues of Theory and Practice, pp. 209-223. London: Sage Publications.

Hacker, K., Zakahi, W., Giles, M., and McQuitty, S. (2000). Components of candidate images: Statistical analysis of the issue-personal dichotomy in the presidential campaign of 1996. Communication Monographs, 67, 227-238.

Hacker, K., Goss, B., Townley, C., and Horton, V. (1998). Employee attitudes regarding electronic mail policies: A case study. Management Communication Quarterly, 11, 422-452.

Hacker, K. (1998). Book review of Persuasion and Privacy in Cyberspace by L. Gurak. Electronic Journal of Communication, 8, Issue 2.

Hacker, K. (1997). Book review of Patterns in the Mind: Language and Human Nature by R. Jackendoff, Communication Theory, 7, 261-264.

Hacker, K., and Wignall, D. (1997). Issues in predicting user acceptance of computer-mediated communication (cmc) as an alternative to face-to-face interaction in inter-university classroom discussion. Communication Reports, 10, 107-114.

- Hacker, K., Scott, M., Howl, L., and Steiner, R. (1996). Uses of computer-mediated political communication in the 1992 Presidential campaign: A content analysis of the Bush, Clinton, and Perot computer lists. Communication Research Reports, 13, 138-146.
- Hacker, K., and Todino, M. (1996). Virtual democracy at the Clinton White House: An experiment in electronic democratization. Javnost/The Public, 3, 71-86.
- Hacker, K. (1996). Missing links in the evolution of electronic democratization. Media, Culture & Society, 18, 213-232.
- Hacker, K. (1996). Political linguistic discourse analysis: Analyzing the relationships of power and language. In Stuckey, M. (Ed.), Theory and Research in Political Communication. New York: State University of New York Press, pp. 28-55.
- Hacker, K. (1996). Virtual democracy: A critique of the Clinton Administration electronic mail system of White House-citizen communication. In Denton, R. (Ed.), The Clinton Presidency: Images, Issues, and Communication Strategies. Westport, CT: Praeger, pp. 43-76.
- Hacker, K. (1995). Interpersonal communication and the formation of candidate images. In Hacker, K. (Ed.), Candidate Images in Presidential Elections. New York: Praeger.
- Hacker, K. (1995). Discourse analysis of candidate image formulation. Hacker, K. (Ed.), Candidate Images in Presidential Elections. New York: Praeger.
- Zakahi, W., and Hacker, K. (1995). The contribution of televised presidential debates to candidate images. In Hacker, K. (Ed.), Candidate Images in Presidential Elections. New York: Praeger.
- Hacker, K. (Ed., 1995). Candidate Images in Presidential Elections. New York: Praeger.
- Hacker, K. (1995). Book review of Year 501: The Conquest Continues by N. Chomsky, Discourse and Society, 6, 550-552.
- Hacker, K. (1995). Moving further beyond mind walking. Discourse and Society, 6, 301-302.
- Hacker, K. (1993). Noam Chomsky's rationalist approach to power and ideology. Review article, Discourse and Society, 4, 395-399.
- Hacker, K. (1993). Struggle at Mid-South Bank. Case Study. In Peterson, G. L. (Ed.). Communicating in Organizations: A Casebook. Scottsdale, AZ: Gorsuch Publishers, pp. 187-191.
- Hacker, K. (1992). Book review. Racism and the Press, by Tuene van Dijk; Language in the News, by Roger Fowler. Discourse and Society, 3, 78-383.
- Hacker, K., and Swan, W. O. (1992). A content analysis of the Bush and Dukakis 1988 presidential election campaign television commercials. Journal of Social Behavior and Personality, 7, 367-374.

Hacker, K., and Coste, T. (1992). A political linguistics analysis of network television news viewers' discourse. Howard Journal of Communication, 3, 299-316.

Hacker, K. (1991). Book Review of the World in Their Minds: Information Processing, Cognition, and Perception in Foreign Policy Decision-making, by Yaacov Y.I. Vertzberger. Journal of Communication, 41, 210-213.

Hacker, K., Coste, T., Kamm, D., and Bybee, C. (1991). Oppositional readings of network television news: Viewer deconstruction. Discourse and Society, 2, 85-104.

Hacker, K., Freedman, E., Gorman, M., and Isaacson, R. (1990). The emergence of task representations in small group simulations of scientific discussions. Journal of Social Behavior and Personality, 5, 175-186.

Bybee, C., and Hacker, K. (1989). The third crisis in journalism: A political linguistics perspective. In Thomas, S. (Ed.) Communication and Culture, Vol. 4. Norwood: Ablex, pp. 53-68.

Hacker, K. (1989). Motivating technical students to appreciate the basic speech course. Ohio Speech Journal, 26, 6-11.

Hacker, K. (1988). Verbal and Nonverbal Communication for Technical Professionals. Dubuque: Kendall/Hunt.

Hacker, K., and Monge, L. (1988). Toward a communication-information model: A theoretical perspective for the design of computer-mediated communication systems. In Moscardini, A. O., and Robson, E. H., (Eds.) Mathematical Modelling for Information Technology. Chichester, England: Ellis Horwood, pp. 198-211.

Hacker, K., and Gorman, M. (1988). The emergence of task representations in small-group scientific reasoning: An interaction analysis of verbal progressions in task groups. Research abstract. Social and Behavioral Science Documents, 17, 22-23.

Hacker, K. (1987). Book review of The Paradox of Mass Politics by W. Russell Neuman. Political Communication Review, 12, 60-66.

Glaser, S., Zamanou, S., and Hacker, K. (1987). Measuring and interpreting organizational culture. Management Communication Quarterly, 1, 173-198.

Electronic publishing (non-juried):

Hacker, K. (2001). Some observations about the Digital Divide. Political Communication Review, Vol. 11 No. 3, Summer 2001.

Hacker, K., and Todino (1996). Virtual democracy at the Clinton White House, Electronic Journal of Communication. RPI, World Wide Web. Re-posting of Javnost paper journal article (which was juried).

Hacker, K. (1994). Is computer-mediated communication contributing to organizational productivity? Communication Research and Theory Network, No. 926, Comserve (COMSERVE@RPITSVM), requested for listing by ERIC.

Hacker, K. (1993). Dear President Clinton: The construction of electronic citizen access to the White House. Communication Research and Theory Network, No. 875, Comserve.

Hacker, K. (1993). What role is there for communication scientists in the development of virtual reality? Communication Research and Theory Network, No.724.

Hacker, K. (1990). Some reactions to the ICA debate regarding the use of cognitive explanations for communication phenomena. Communication Research and Theory Network, No. 265, Comserve. Reprinted in ICA Newsletter, 18, 8-9.

Hacker, K. (1989). Political image research and theory bibliography. Comserve communication research network.

Hacker, K. (1989). Communication and cognition theory and research bibliography. Comserve communication research network.

Hacker, K., and Coste, T. (1989). Political linguistics theory and research bibliography. Comserve communication research network.

Hacker, K. (1988). Computer-mediated communication research bibliography. Comserve communication research network, SCIT communication technology network.

CONFERENCE PAPERS and PANELS:

Hacker, K., Chew, P. & Abdelali, A. (2018). Tracking Russian Online Influence Operations and Possible Points of Disruption with Big Data Cross-Lingual Text Analysis. Intelligence in the Non-English Speaking World Annual National Security Colloquium University of Texas, El Paso, National Security Studies Institute. June, 20, 2018

Hacker, K., Abdelali, A., Johnston, J., and Boje, D. (2016). Analyzing Iranian Leaders' Conflict Framing with Automated Text Analysis (ATA), Top Four Paper, Political Communication Division, National Communication Association. Philadelphia, PA.

Flora, J. Boje, D., Rosile, G., & Hacker, K. (2015). A Theoretical and Applied Review of Embodied Restorying for Post-Deployment Family Communication, National Communication Association annual conference. Las Vegas, November 19, 2015.

Hacker, K. and Morgan, E. (2014). Empowering and disempowering aspects of the Digital Divide: Historical perspectives and ways forward. Panel paper, Communication and “The Good Life”: Around the world after two decades of the Digital Divide. Pre-conference, International Communication Association, Seattle, May.

Hacker, K., Boje, D., Nisbett, V., Henry, N., and Abdelali, A. (2013) Interpreting Iranian leaders’ conflict framing by combining latent semantic analysis and pragmatist storytelling theory. Paper presented to the Political Communication Division of the National Communication Association annual conference, Washington, DC, November, 2013.

Hacker, K. (2013). Panel participant on National Communication Association panel, “Public diplomacy: The sunrise and communication synergy of a new field. Washington, DC, November, 2013.

Participated in a doctoral dissertation consortium (all day) by leaders in new media research with doctoral students in various nations doing communication technology research in communication studies. International Communication Association, Phoenix, AZ, May, 2012. No paper involved.

Hacker, K. and Okoth, S. (2011). Issues of public diplomacy effectiveness measurement: Possible help from principles used in persuasion and Political communication. Panel presentation for Panel: Measurement and Evaluation in Public Diplomacy: A Political Communication Approach, National Communication Association annual conference, New Orleans, LA, November 20th, 2011.

Hacker, K., Coombs, M., Weaver, C., & McCulloh, G. (2006). The use of blogs and computer-mediated communication (CMC) for depolarizing political discourse. Paper presented on a debate panel, Communication and Technology Division, International Communication Association, Dresden, Germany, July.

Morgan, E. and Hacker, K. (2005). Boundaries in Genetic Discourse: Racial and Ethnic Self-Identification, Paper presented to the International Communication Association, New York City, May.

Hacker, K. (2002). Theoretical and empirical issues concerning computer-mediated democracy, network society and the “fourth world.” Part of KEYNOTE ADDRESS to EURICOM, Nijmegen, The Netherlands, October. Talk and paper funded by National Science Foundation.

van Dijk, J., and Hacker, K. (2000). The digital divide as a complex and dynamic phenomenon. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Acapulco, Mexico, June.

Hacker, K., Zakahi, W., and Giles, M. (1998). Components of candidate images: Further statistical analysis of the issue-persona dichotomy in the presidential campaign of 1996. Paper presented to the Political Communication Division of the International Communication Association, Jerusalem, Israel, July.

Hacker, K. (1996). Virtual democracy and computer-mediated political communication: The role of the Clinton White House in facilitating electronic democratization and political interactivity. Paper presented to the Speech Communication Association, San Diego, November.

Hacker, K., Goss, B., Townley, C., and Horton, V. (1996). Employee attitudes regarding electronic mail policies: A case study. Organizational Communication division, Western States Communication Association, Pasadena, California, February.

Townley, C., Horton, V., Goss, B. and Hacker, K. (1995). Creating effective guidelines for email use in an academic organization. EDUCOM Convention, Portland, Oregon, November.

Hacker, K., and Goss, B. (1995). Electronic mail management: Issues of policy formulation for organizations. Presented to the Organizational Communication division of the International Communication Association, Albuquerque, New Mexico, May.

Hacker, K., and Giles, M. (1995). Voter discourse and candidate images: An analysis of candidate image discourse formulation regarding George Bush, Bill Clinton, and Ross Perot. Paper presented to the Mass Communication division of the Western States Communication Association, Portland, Oregon, February.

Hacker, K. and Zakahi, W. (1994). Re-evaluating the issue-persona dichotomy in candidate images: A statistical test. Presented to the Mass Communication division of the Western States Communication Association, San Jose, CA. A TOP THREE PAPER.

Zakahi, W., Hacker, K., and Baker, N. (1993). Effects of post-presidential debate analysis by network journalists on voters' perceptions of debate outcomes. Paper presented to the Political Communication of the Speech Communication Association, November, Miami. A TOP FOUR PAPER.

Hacker, K., and Wignall, D. (1993). Issues in predicting communication satisfaction in the use of computer-mediated communication (CMC) as a tool of inter-university classroom discussion. Paper presented to the Mass Communication division of the Western States Communication Association, Albuquerque, February.

Hacker, K., and Zakahi, W. (1993). Campaign news sources and pre-convention presidential preferences: A test of source differences. Paper presented to the Mass Communication division of the Western States Communication Association, Albuquerque, February.

Hacker, K. (1992). Organizational culture and new communication technology planning: A case study. Paper presented to the Communication and Technology division of the International Communication Association, Miami, May.

Hacker, K., Ash, S., and Wostal, S. (1992). Predictors of communication satisfaction with the use of computer-mediated communication (CMC) as a tool of inter-university discussion and learning. Paper presented to the Communication and Technology division of the International Communication Association, Miami, May. Panel proposed and chaired by K. Hacker.

Hacker, K., Leach, M., and Steele, R. (1992). Forty-eight hours of news and one hour of narrative: CBS narrates a labor strike. Paper to be presented to the Mass Communication division of the Western States Communication Association, Boise, Idaho, February. A TOP FOUR PAPER.

Coste, T., Hacker, K., Carter, A., and Walli, G. (1991). An ethnosemiotic analysis of TV news viewer criticism and opposition. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Chicago, May.

Hacker, K., and Bergvall, V. (1991). A discourse analysis of voters' 1988 political image formulations in linguistic behaviors, discourse formulations, and mental models. Paper presented to the Southwest Social Science Association, San Antonio, Texas, March.

Hacker, K. (1991). Decency movements and decency resistance movements' struggles over First Amendment protections: An expanding controversy. Paper presented to the Western States Communication Association, Phoenix, February.

Hacker, K., Loughrin-Sacco, S., and Gerstles, J. (1990). A comparative study of American and French students' political knowledge and sophistication regarding the 1988 presidential elections. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Dublin, Ireland, June.

Hacker, K., Freedman, E., and Bergvall, V. (1990). Political image formulations in 1988: A discourse analysis of voter conversations. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Dublin, Ireland, June.

Hacker, K., Freedman, E., and Swan, W. (1989). Discourse formulations and cognitive representations of George Bush and Michael Dukakis: The construction of political images. Paper presented to the Speech Communication Association, November. TOP FOUR PAPER, Presidential Communication Task Force.

Hacker, K., Coste, T., Kamm, D., and Bybee, C. (1989). Oppositional reading of network television news: A political linguistics analysis of viewer deconstruction moves. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, San Francisco, May.

Hacker, K., and Coste, T. (1988). The social semiotics of network television news viewing: A political discourse analysis. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, New Orleans, May.

Hacker, K., and Milano, R. (1988). Fundamental communication issues in the design of computer-mediated communication (cmc) systems. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, New Orleans, May.

Hacker, K., and Smith, E. (1988). Political image formulations of the 1988 presidential election: A conversation analysis of voter discourse. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, New Orleans, May.

Hacker, K., Gorman, M., and Isaacson, R. (1988). The emergence of task representations in small-group scientific reasoning: An interaction analysis of verbal progressions in task groups. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, New Orleans, May.

Hacker, K., and Monge, L. (1988). Toward a communication-information model: A theoretical perspective for the design of computer-mediated communication systems. Paper presented to the Sunderland Polytechnic Conference on Modelling for the Communications Industries, Sunderland, England, May.

Hacker, K. (1987). A tentative theoretical model of political image formulation. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Montreal, May.

Glaser, S., Zamanou S., and Hacker, K. (1987). Measuring and interpreting organizational culture. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Montreal, May.

Hacker, K., and Griffin, M. (1987). An empirical semiotic analysis of the political linguistic dimensions of television network news: Elements, codes, and viewer language. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Montreal, May.

Bybee, C., and Hacker, K. (1986). The political linguistics challenge to journalistic objectivity. Paper presented to the Temple University Culture and Communication Conference, Philadelphia, October.

Hacker, K., Carmichael, C., and Hirsch, K. (1986). Organizational culture and the design of computer-mediated communication systems: Issues for organizational communication research. Paper presented to the Speech Communication Association, Chicago, November. A TOP THREE PAPER.

Hacker, K. (1985). Political image formation and interpersonal argumentation: The social construction of voting behavior. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Honolulu, May.

Hacker, K., and Bybee, C. (1985). Toward an explication of political linguistics. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Honolulu, May.

Hirsch, K., Hacker, K., and Carmichael, C. (1985). Design problems in computer-mediated communication (cmc) systems: Issues for the field of communication. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, Honolulu, May.

Hacker, K. (1985). Television linguistics: A political linguistics criticism of television news, interpersonal communication, and voting in presidential elections. Paper presented to the University of Iowa Symposium and Conference on Television Criticism, Iowa City, April.

Hacker, K. (1984). Political image formation: A communication perspective for the 1984 presidential election. Paper presented to the International Communication Association, San Francisco, May.

SCHOLARLY WORK IN PROGRESS:

Preliminary stages in late 2017 on the study of information war online and the use of various digital communication counter-narratives as part of struggles in political information space. Research planned with Dr. Peter Chew, a computational linguist and big data analyst.

Flora, J., Halliwell, D., Boje, D., & Hacker, K. Qualitative analyses of military families' stories about post-deployment family re-integration issues.

Flora, J., (Communication Studies, NMSU), Huiping Cao (Computer Science, NMSU), Boje, D. (Management, NMSU), Hacker, K. National Institutes of Health (NIH) proposal meetings to progress toward NIH or NSF grant proposals concerning military families and deployments. Multi-methods design including narrative analysis, survey research, data mining, and agent-based modeling methodology.

Boje, D., Hacker, K. England-Kennedy, Flora, J., and Rosile, G. Ongoing research concerning military family communication and stress related to deployment and post-deployment family dynamics. Combination of equine-assisted relaxation and re-storying framing approaches (using Boje's narrative theories).

Hacker, K., Boje, D., Johnston, J. and Abdelali, A., Ongoing automated text analysis of Iranian political discourse analysis to develop a methodology linking framing and narratives to actions taken by political groups or nation-states. Formation of Strategic Discourse Analysis research team (STRADA) Website: <http://strada.research.nmsu.edu>.

AWARDS:

Certificate of Appreciation, Military and Veterans Programs, NMSU, Nov. 18, 2016.

Certificate of Appreciation, Black Studies Department, New Mexico State University, 2015.

New Mexico State University College of Arts and Sciences Distinguished Achievement Professor award, 2013.

State Guard Association of the United States Achievement Medal, 2010.

Long Service Award, New Mexico State Guard, 2009.

U.S. President's Volunteer Service Award, USA Freedom Corps, 2008.

New Mexico State University College of Arts and Sciences Faculty Outstanding Achievement Award, 2006.

GRANTS RECEIVED AND PROPOSED:

Hacker, K., Halliwell, D., Boje, D., Flora, J. PI, NMSU Interdisciplinary IMPACT grant proposal. Post-deployment military family reintegration interventions study. Awarded, Dec. 1, 2017, $40,000.

Faculty advisor to student-run social project for Department of State and Department of Homeland Security. $2,000 received from sponsors (including Facebook) in Fall, 2016, and again in Spring, 2017, for the design of a social media platform that can generate positive and peaceful political communication about troubling issues in the world and nation. In the Fall, my department was given an additional $500 for being a good participant in the overall project.

Participant, Criminal Justice department at NMSU on proposal to the United States Department of Justice for the public education regarding children exposed to violence and childhood trauma, In progress, 2017. OJJDP FY 17 Changing Minds: Professional Development and Public Education to Address Children Exposed to Violence and Childhood Trauma Under review. $1,000,000.00.

Participant, Upward Bound proposal, Military and Veterans Programs proposal to U.S. Department of Education for support service for NMSU student veterans. 2017, not funded.

Boje, D., Hacker, K., Rosile, G., Hacker, K., England-Kennedy, E., and Flora, J (2013). Combining re-storying and equine-assisted skills training in counselor communication designed to help soldiers and their families recover from traumatic stress. Grant awarded at $15,300 for a small pilot study. Vice President of Research Interdisciplinary Research Grant, 2013.

Dr. K. Hacker and E. Vazquez proposed for a second time an IC Center for Academic Excellence. The proposal was awarded but not funded due to federal government budget constriction. $2,000,000. 2010.

Drs. Hacker (Communication Studies, NMSU), Vazquez (Physical Science Laboratory, NMSU), proposed an Intelligence Community Center of Academic Excellence for NMSU in partnership with the University of Texas at El Paso. The proposed funding for years by the Office of the Director of National Intelligence $3,240,000. Not awarded.

Drs. Hacker and Weaver along with team of scientists at NMSU including Drs. Enedina Vasquez (PSL), Jack Wright (Geology), Barry Thatcher (English), Enrico Pontelli (Computer Science), and Hung Nguyen (Mathematics), submitted a pre-proposal to the National Science Foundation (NSF) to fund an interdisciplinary graduate program on campus called "Globalization and Decision Science: Developing New Methods and Models for the Study of Social Dynamics in an Increasingly Interdependent World." This was submitted in March, 2007. Not funded.

Central Intelligence Agency grant transferred from PSL to Communication Studies department. Fund value is $158,616.00. Dr. Hacker became PI on this grant. 2004-2006. Funded and project completed.

Los Alamos National Lab and NMSU grant funded. $135,000 for the study of social behavior dynamics related to issues of national security. Two-year research project, 2005-2007.

Grant submitted to SCORE at NMSU and the NIH Human Genome Project ethics division, June, 2004. The project involves studying Native American attitudes about genomics and ethical means of encouraging communication about the Human Genome Project and genomics. The grant proposal was for a three-year study and is for $150,000. Rejected.

National Science Foundation support for EURICOM talk, The Netherlands, 2002, $1,000.

Slovenia United Nations UNESCO grant of $500 and hotel/food expenses for European Communication and Culture Institute colloquium in Piran, Slovenia, April 10-14, 1996.

Speech Communication Association grant of support, computer random sampling and mailing of surveys to 600 association members for study done on attitudes toward electronic journals.

Las Cruces Sun News provision of telephones for random-sample (n=300) phone interviewing along with focus group facilities for a candidate image set of measurements regarding the 1996 Presidential election.

NMSU Computer Center programming grant for the development of student computer conferencing training program.

C-SPAN Faculty Development Grant received, April 1992. $500 for video tapes of C-SPAN programs for use in teaching and research in political communication.

SCHOLARLY JOURNAL REVIEW WORK:

Member of Editorial Board for New Media and Society, appointed September, 2014.

Member of Editorial Board for the Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication, appointed July, 2008. Re-appointed by new editor, September, 2013. Still active in 2018.

Member of Editorial Board for the Western Communication Journal, 2013-present.

Member of Editorial Board for the Journal of Communication, 2006-2013.

Communication Reports, 2004-present.

New Media and Society, 2002.

Communication Research Reports, 1996-present; editorial board member.

Member of Editorial Board for Communication Research Reports.

American Political Science Review, 2002.

Policy Studies Journal, 2000.

Political Communication, 1996-present.

Management Communication Quarterly, 1994-present.

Electronic Journal of Communication, 1994-present.

Critical Studies of Mass Communication, 1989-1991.

Journal of Applied Social Psychology, 1993.

Journal of Social Behavior and Personality, 1990-1991.

Journal of Computer-Mediated Communication, 2001.

SERVICE:

University Service -- New Mexico State University:

Department Head of Communication Studies, 2013-present.

Chair, NMSU Residency Appeals Board.

Spring, 2018. Worked with Communication Studies graduate students to screen the movie “Tickling Giants” at New Mexico State University.

October, 2017. Worked with NMSU Chicano Programs to screen the Media Education Foundation documentary “Latinos Beyond Reel” with a follow-up public discussion about media ethnic stereotypes.

October, 2016. Produced a Robert Mirabal concert at NMSU to highlight the commitment of our department to intercultural communication and cultural diversity. Robert Mirabal is a two-Grammy aware wining American Indian singer.

November, 2015. Worked with NMSU Military and Veterans Programs to launch the first full week of veteran appreciation events at NMSU. This included panels on military family communication, a screening of the movie “Fort Bliss” and a public discussion with the director and producers of the film, Claudia Myers.

NMSU College of Arts and Sciences ad hoc committee on developing department programs that increase student engagement.

NMSU College of Arts and Sciences committee on Discovery Scholar Program (to help undergraduate students get involved in research). 2013-present.

Member, NMSU Conflict of Interest Committee, appointed 2012. 2012-present.

Speech to minority student leaders at NMSU about cultural diversity and leadership. 2013.

Faculty Advisor, Communication Studies Club, Department of Communication Studies.

Various Department of Communication Studies committees, 1990-present.

Mentoring with the McNair Scholarship program, 2006-2007. McNair mentor.

“Strategic Communication and Counterterrorism,” Talk given at the Re-Thinking Terrorism Colloquia series, College of Arts and Sciences, October 24, 2006.

Appointed to College of Arts and Sciences College Planning and Budget Committee, Feb. 2, 2006.

“Dual power: The potential of combing soft power with hard power as an approach to public diplomacy.” Presented to PSL/NMSU Futures Team and the visiting Central Intelligence Agency, March, 15, 2005, New Mexico State University.

Member, Journalism and Mass Communication Tenure and Promotion Committee, 2004, 2005.

Member, Ad-Hoc Committee to Review the Arts and Sciences Research Center, 2003.

Judge, Southwestern New Mexico Regional Science and Engineering Fair, New Mexico State University, Spring, 2003.

Member, College of Arts and Sciences Curriculum Planning Committee. 2000-2003.

Judge, Southwestern New Mexico Regional Science and Engineering Fair, New Mexico State University, March 16, 2002.

Chair, Dept. of Communication Studies Search Committee, 2001-2002.

Member, University Research Council, 2001-2004 (elected).

Member, Grants Process Committee, sub-committee of University Research Council, 2001-2002.

Acting department head, two weeks, June, 1997; other occasions up through 2013.

New NMSU student advising, Corbett Center, 1991-present.

NCA review committee member/service, Spring, 1997.

World Wide Web site initiator and developer for Department of Communication Studies, New Mexico State University, 1995-2002.

Member, NMSU College of Arts and Sciences Planning Committee (elected, served 1992-1995), New Mexico State University.

Speaker, "Libraries on the Electronic Frontier," Workshop conducted by New Mexico State University on Internet and electronic mail, August 12, 1994.

Member, NMSU College of Arts and Sciences Academic Computing Survey Committee, New Mexico State University, 1991-1994.

Judge, Graduate Student Research Fair, New Mexico State University, April, 1994.

Communication skills training, NMSU Indian Resources Development, Dream Warrior Summer Camp, June, 1992.

Served as faculty judge on university student events such as NMSU Homecoming display competitions (1990) and an Agriculture department talent show.

University Service: Michigan Technological University:

Chair, Speech Committee, Department of Humanities, Michigan Tech, 1986-1989. Discussions about and planning for speech communication course development and facilitation.

Committee participation: Research and Scholarship Committee Speech Committee (Chair), Scientific and Technical Communication (STC) faculty committee, Psychology Committee, Communication Committee, STC student Recruiting Committee. Ad hoc committee on cognitive science certificate for courses. Michigan Tech.

Critical work in establishing curriculum guidelines for courses in communication theory, communication issues, and mass media. Michigan Tech. Foundational work on establishing a mentoring system for assisting graduate students who begin teaching communication theory courses. Michigan Tech.

Advisor for Society of Technical Communication Student Chapter, Michigan Tech, 1988-1989.

STC student recruiting and corporate marketing, Michigan Tech.

Faculty advisor for the STC promotional video production, Michigan Tech.

Speaker at Michigan Tech Alpha Xi Zeta session on effective meeting leadership, March, 1989.

United Way solicitor, Department of Humanities, Michigan Tech, 1988-90.

Speaker at the Michigan Tech ODK student leadership conference, April, 1988.

Work done with geologists (volcanologists) Bill Rose and Reinaldo Mercado at Michigan Tech analyzing communication problems in volcanologists' interactions with mass media, public, local cultures, other scientists. Paper presented by the geologists at their association.

Professional Organization Memberships:

Member, National Communication Association.

Member, The Academy of Political Science.

Member, International Communication Association.

Secretary of Political Communication Division of the International Communication Association, November, 1996-1999.

State Coordinator (New Mexico) for Speech Communication Association Debate Watch project for citizen involvement with presidential debates of 1996 and 2000. Work with local and state media, citizens, and community groups.

Publications Chair, Political Communication division, Speech Communication Association, 1995.

Nominee for Research Committee, Mass Communication division, Speech Communication Association, 1995.

Selected as paper respondent and paper reader for mass communication division of the Western States Communication Association for the 1996 annual conference in Pasadena, California.

Respondent, two panels (one on CMC, one on candidate images), Speech Communication Association national conference, New Orleans, November, 1994.

Paper and panel reviewer for International Communication Association, Speech Communication Association, Western States Communication Association.

Member, Board of Nominators, Comserve Master Scholars Resource Program, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 1989.

City, County, State, National:

Producing a music event at NMSU for October 23, 2106. The show features two-Grammy award winner Robert Mirabal, an American Indian singer who will help our campus with its focus on cultural diversity and celebrations of cultural awareness and understanding.

Debate Watch, university and community project, November 2012.

Member, Governing Board, J. Paul Taylor Academy, first charter elementary school in Las Cruces. Sworn in October, 2010. Served 2010-2012. Also member of the JPTA Foundation board.

Military service, New Mexico State Guard (NM Defense Force, under Army National Guard command), 2004-2012. Left with rank of major and held deputy chief positions in public affairs and intelligence.

Consulting to the Physical Science Lab at NMSU military project on anti-terrorism persuasion message effectiveness in various populations. 2003-2006.

Consulting advisor to Unity Journalists Town Hall, 2002 hosted by Unity Journalists of Color, Microsoft, and the National Press Club. Event on May 22, 2002, Webcast available: <http://www.unityjournalists.org>. Segments aired in PBS special on the Digital Divide.

Interviewed in news story on MTV News about the Digital Divide, June 18, 2002.

http://www.mtv.com/onair/ffyr/discrimination/featurearchive_06_18.jhtml

Moderator for NMSU College Democrats 2002 Primary Candidates Forum of party candidates (running for June primary) for Lt. Governor, House of Representatives, Treasurer, etc. Good Samaritan Village Auditorium, April 12, 2002.

Debate Coordinator, KRWG/League of Women Voters' NM Gubernatorial Debate, 1998, NMSU.

State of New Mexico Employment Veteran's Division Office talk at White Sands, November 6, 1997, on communication skills necessary for effective job interviews by military personnel transitioning into civilian life.

Elderhostel lectures, March, 1997, coordinated through Dona Ana Community College.

Speech given on communicating with those who have psychological disorders. Dona Ana County chapter of the Alliance for the Mentally Ill, 1995.

Participant (requested by Secretary of State), National Foreign Policy Conference for Leaders in Higher Education, United States State Department, Washington, DC, April 18, 1994.

United States State Department contact for aiding students in preparing for Educational Testing Service Foreign Service Examination. Workshop by ETS and State Department, Houston, Texas, September, 1993.

Facilitator, Dona Ana County Government Retreat for defining organizational mission and improving organizational communication, Ruidoso, New Mexico, August 13, 1993.

Communication lecture at San Juan College, NMSU extension service, April, 1992.

Michigan Tech public speech on history of censorship, March 7, 1990.